Tutoring Experience

For the past 10 years, I've helped students prepare for IB Physics (SL and HL) as well as A-Level and IGCSE Physics. My expertise lies in guiding students through complex concepts like electromagnetism and quantum mechanics, ensuring they understand both theory and its applications.

I've worked with students from Japan, the UK, and the US, adapting my teaching to various international curricula. Many of my students have successfully progressed to top universities, demonstrating the effectiveness of my tutoring. My approach helps students not only achieve strong exam results but also build a solid foundation in Physics.

In addition to teaching, I also support students preparing for AP Physics exams, focusing on problem-solving and critical thinking. My goal is to inspire confidence in students, enabling them to tackle even the most challenging questions with ease.
